

Russian Forces Drive But 30 Miles Of East Prussia

Make Advance And May Trap Two of German Armies Near Baltic

By Eddy Gilmore

MOSCOW, July 13.—(AP)—Russian troops advanced to a point within 30 miles of the Suwalki triangle of East Prussia today after plunging 19 miles forward in a day and night.

(The Suwalki triangle is a wedge of old Poland between East Prussia and Lithuania, which was annexed to East Prussia by the 1939 Ribbentrop-Molotov agreement in the fourth partition of Poland.)

(Suwalki itself is but 11 miles from the pre-war border of East Prussia. It is a city of old Poland on a wedge of land between East Prussia and Lithuania. It lies 60 miles southwest of Kaunas and 90 miles from the Prussian Baltic coast. A Russian drive to the Baltic might trap two German armies in the Russian-annexed states of Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania.)

(An NBC broadcast from Sweden said the Russians were within 12 miles of East Prussia after driving 30 miles beyond Grodno, also an old Polish city. Such proximity would mean that battle echoes could be heard in Germany itself.)

Other Russian columns struck within 38 miles of Kaunas, old capital of Lithuania in a seven-mile advance. Detachments were within 29 miles of Grodno after racing 27 miles in 25 hours. Yet another group was 50 miles from Bialystok, strategic rail center leading into Warsaw and East Prussia. Brest Litovsk on the river Bug was within 67 miles of forces on the north and 70 of those in the Pripyat Marsh area.

Warsaw itself was within 150 miles of Russian guns to the northeast.

Daugavpils, gateway to the Baltic sea and Riga, was feeling increasing pressure of two huge approaching Russian armies. Already its garrison was like the one surrounded in Wilno in Lithuania, bracing for the coming blow.

Take 1,000 Villages

The newest disaster to befall the Germans was Gen. Andrei I. Yermenko's offensive against the Latvian republic, which in its first two days gobbled up more than 1,000 villages in a breakthrough which front dispatches said was now 100 miles wide and 25 miles deep north of Gen. Ivan Bagramian's first Baltic army.

Yermenko moved to within 18 miles of the border of the Latvian Soviet republic on the main Velikiye-Luki-Riga railway.

(A Reuters Moscow dispatch said Red army tanks had plunged to within 35 miles of the East Prussian border in fighting southwest of the new front.)

Report 7,000 Killed

A Moscow communique said more than 7,000 Germans were killed and about 1,500 taken prisoner in a single day's fighting on the new sector.

Front dispatches pictured the Germans falling back pell-mell. Sebezh and Opochka, last strongholds held by the Germans on the eastern side of the Latvian middle border, were feeling the artillery of Yermenko's advance field units. His infantry fanned out north and south of both objectives.

To the south the right wing of Gen. Bagramian's army was 14 miles from the Latvian border. The left arm of Bagramian's forces got within 17 miles of Daugavpils. Other Soviet forces pushed toward Kaunas, 60 miles northwest of Wilno. Farther south Red army troops pressed to a point within 28 miles of the rail center of Grodno, capturing Ostrino and Nowy Dwor.

The drive along the railway from Baranowicz toward Bialystok progressed with the capture of the railway station of Zelwa, 14 miles east of the junction of Wolkowysk.

Gen. Ivan Cherniakhovsky's third White Russian army continued its advance north and south of Wilno, capturing more than 200 places, including the district centers of Wasiliszki, 21 miles west of Lida, and Radun, 16 miles north.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 13.—(AP)—Seven youthful fugitives from the Boys' Training School at Booneville who ransacked a house and stole two automobiles during 14 hours of freedom were caught early today at Kirkwood by highway patrolmen.

The youths left the Booneville school yesterday afternoon, taking a state owned truck. Last night a Jefferson City home was rifled of money, jewelry and men's clothing and its telephone wires were cut.

Early this morning the boys were found in Kirkwood driving an automobile stolen here last night.

U. S. Casualties At Saipan Are 2,359 Killed

Wounded Given At 11,481 With 1,213 Missing

By EUGENE BURNS

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, PEARL HARBOR, July 13.—(AP)—Conquest of strategic Saipan Island in the western Pacific cost 15,053 American casualties—2,359 killed, 11,481 wounded and 1,213 missing—Navy Secretary Forrestal announced Wednesday in Washington.

This total, the highest of any single ground action in the Pacific, was far exceeded by the losses inflicted on the Japanese garrison, 11,948 of whom already had been buried.

Forrestal said "probably 95 percent" of the defending force, estimated at more than 20,000, died in the futile defense of Saipan. That island is within bombing range of Tokyo and already is being used by American fighter planes.

1,000 Jap Prisoners

Forrestal's report followed quickly an announcement by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz that Japanese prisoners of war on Saipan already exceeded 1,000. That also was a record for any single campaign in the Pacific.

New carrier task force strikes Monday at Guam and Rota, in the Marianas south of Saipan, were reported by Nimitz. These attacks rounded out nearly a week of sustained action, suggestive of pre-invasion softening up, against those islands.

Nimitz' report on Japanese prisoners included operations through Monday. As the cleanup continued, the total was expected to be increased. Undoubtedly there still were many Japanese hiding out in caves and on wooded ridges.

Although organized resistance on Saipan had ended last Saturday, there was bitter fighting when isolated enemy groups were located. Nimitz reported one marine regiment alone killed 711 Japanese troops Monday in mopping up activities.

Interne Civilians

Japanese civilians, who had been caught at the northern tip of the island with the remnants of the garrison, continued to stream back. More than 9,000 already had been interned, Nimitz said.

The latest carrier plane strike at Guam, the sixth in as many days, concentrated on military objectives at the towns of Agaña, Umatac and Agat on the western shore. Buildings near Orote Point, at about the center of the western coastline, also were hit.

Runways and defense installations were bombed on Rota and a twin engine enemy bomber was shot down.

There was no interception by enemy fighter planes over either Guam or Rota. Anti-aircraft fire was reported moderate.

Third Day in The Bombing Of Munich

Big Air Fleet Strikes Without Having Loss

By Gladwin Hill

LONDON, July 13.—(AP)—A thousand Flying Fortresses and Liberators bombed Munich for the third successive day today and also struck at Saarbrücken in western Germany.

Munich is a transportation center for railways and roads between Germany, Italy and France and the attack fitted into the rapidly snowballing campaign threatening to cripple German transport over all western Europe, the same as it now is disrupted in the northwest corner.

The Munich area now has received about 9,000 tons of American bombs in three days, making it probably the most intensively bombed region on earth.

Berlin said also a fleet was striking from Italy, as on the last two days.

No Loss To Raiders

A large fleet of 1,300 RAF heavy bombers without loss before dawn struck two of the most important rail centers in central France. Other British bombers from Italy battered the Brescia rail yards in northern Italy by night. The Finns said Russian air forces joined the general melee by bombing their port of Kotka east of Helsinki.

Saarbrücken is a major steel and coal center nearly athwart the western German border on a main trunk line to Paris, 200 miles due west. Mosquitoes during the night had struck targets in the nearby Ruhr.

Up to 500 fighters convoyed the thousand American bombers to Munich and Saarbrücken, making the total forces slightly less than the 2,000 or so planes which struck Tuesday and Wednesday. As on the last two days, the planes flew through murky weather and bombed through clouds.

Sedalians be at Aviation Luncheon

Mayor A. H. Wilks, and T. H. Yount, the latter chairman of the Airport committee of the City Council, will go to Kansas City, Friday, where they will attend an aviation luncheon, at which Wayne Parrish, widely-known aviation analyst, writer and publisher of the American Aviation magazine, will be the principal speaker.

The meeting-luncheon is to be held at the Continental hotel, sponsored by the Aviation Department of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce. Many persons throughout the middle west interested in post-war aviation plans will be in attendance at this gathering.

The speaker will use as his subject "The March of Aviation." Mr. Parrish, who is from Washington, D. C., recently spent several weeks in England as the guest of the British government, conferring with officials about military aviation and the development of post-war civil air transportation.

New Premier to Duties Saturday

ROME, July 13.—(AP)—Premier Ivanoe Bonomi's government will establish itself Saturday in a Rome still beset by chaotic conditions after six weeks of Allied occupation.

Though the capital's food supply problems are far from solved, the food situation is better for the masses than in the final days under the Germans, but most public services are worse now than when the Germans were here. The main cause of this is the damage done to installations by the Germans.

Brother Is Being Sought as Slayer

COFFEYVILLE, Kas., July 13.—(AP)—Officers today combed a wooded region near Noxie, Okla., ten miles south of here for Walter Gromisch who is wanted in connection with the fatal shooting of his brother Fred Gromisch, 50, last night following a quarrel, police said. The shooting occurred on the farm of Pete Sabol, stepfather of the brothers.

President May Visit Britain

By John M. Hightower

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(AP)—A meeting between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill may come about before long, the way cleared in part by Mr. Roosevelt's revision of French policy to permit practical cooperation with General Charles De Gaulle.

The problem of Anglo-American relations with De Gaulle's National Committee of Liberation has been one of the most difficult ever to trouble the course of affairs which have to be handled jointly by Washington and London.

The president and the prime minister have at various times been fairly close together in their desire not to recognize the committee as a provisional government, but Mr. Churchill's position has been complicated first by the fact that his own foreign office has long favored recognition and second by indications that this attitude in recent months has become increasingly widespread throughout the British government.

Had this recognition issue remained in a highly unsettled condition with Allied armies in France, it would undoubtedly have colored all the discussions of Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill in their expected talks.

No time for these talks has been indicated. The president, however, has hinted at two new conferences that he expects to see the prime minister this summer or fall and that he would probably make the trip to Britain this time instead of having Mr. Churchill come over.

Deny a Report Herriot Dead

Berlin Broadcast Had Put it on The Air Waves

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP)—The Vichy radio said today in a domestic broadcast recorded by U. S. government monitors that an announcement of the death of former Premier Herriot it had broadcast earlier was "erroneous."

"Herriot is in excellent health," said the broadcast.

Both the Paris radio and DNB in a Berlin broadcast had reported Herriot's death.

LONDON, July 13.—(AP)—The death of Edouard Herriot, three times premier of France, was announced today by the German agency DNB. The Berlin broadcast gave no details.

The 72-year-old French liberal and champion of parliamentary government previously had been reported from time to time to be dead, in sanatoriums or in concentration camps.

(A French language broadcast from the British radio recorded by CBS said the German announcement "seems to be a false report purposely spread in France.")

Berlin announced early last September that Herriot was seriously ill and subsequently on Sept. 6, a Vichy dispatch to a Swiss newspaper said he had been placed in a sanatorium for treatment for a mental disorder.

Knockout for Guam's Airforce

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, July 13.—(AP)—Sustained American air and naval blows focused attention today on Guam, southwest of Saipan which now is a U. S. operational base, carved out of Japan's inner defenses.

Already the enemy airforce at Guam and on intervening Rota appears to have been knocked out by the same type of pounding loosed on Saipan prior to its invasion June 14. Guam has been bombed daily for nearly a week and intermittently shelled by warships.

On Saipan, concealing caves and ravines were probed for additions which are expected to swell both the total of nearly 12,000 Japanese dead counted so far and more than 10,000 captives.

Renew Robot Bomb Firing

LONDON, July 13.—(AP)—The Germans fired a fresh batch of winged bombs against England today as the bombardment of London stirred a flurry of parliamentary questions in commons and some members renewed demands for a secret session on the problem.

Reputy Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee curtly rejected a suggestion that the government had been caught unprepared and napping. As to a secret session, Attlee said, "at present the prime minister does not see that he can usefully add anything to what he has said."

Blood Bank Has 316 Donors Wednesday

Appointments are Insisted on by Those in Charge

Three hundred and sixteen pints of blood were taken at the Blood Bank Center Wednesday. People of Pettis county are asked to be sure to make an appointment before going to the Center, otherwise the day's schedule is upset, and Wednesday people were turned away, many of them who had made appointments but who could not be taken care of because so many others had gone to the Center without first registering.

Sixty people came to the Blood Bank from Camden-ton Wednesday. A young soldier back from the front was the inspiration of many people from that community wanting to give their blood. At a previous time his mother was working to get donors from her community when she received word her son, who was with the Army Air Corps, was missing. But today the boy is back home. He went down in the jungles of Burma and it took him five days to reach a native village and twenty-eight days to contact civilization and he has stories to tell in his community of the results of the use of blood plasma.

LaMonte Boy Revived

A LaMonte boy, back from the front, also is telling a story that stirs the citizens of that community. He told of how he and another soldier passed a friend lying on the battlefield. "That is the last we will see of him," one boy said to the other but a short time later when they returned they found him walking toward them. They were so surprised and asked him what had happened, to which he replied: "Someone found me and gave me blood plasma—and now I'm all right."

For the past three weeks Mrs. H. H. Harnsberger and her efficient committee have been registering the people of Pettis county preparing for the Blood Bank. This is one of the biggest jobs of all. They will make your appointment if you will telephone 130. On Mrs. Harnsberger's committee are Mrs. A. E. Jackson, Mrs. Harold Dean, Mrs. J. C. McLaughlin, Mrs. Phillip McLaughlin, Mrs. Roy Snyder and Mrs. George Scruton. Miss Jane Laupheimer has done all of the typing.

In the recovery room are the Gray Ladies. Their job is to make donors comfortable and at ease. To see that they sit and wait their full twenty minutes and drink the required liquids. They also make out the cards and give out the pins. Bronze pins to first time donors and silver pins to third time donors.

Six Destroyers Are Lost at Landing Coast

Total Losses 15 Vessels of British And of U. S.

LONDON, July 13.—(AP)—Six American and British destroyers were lost in landing operations in France, the U. S. Navy department and the British admiralty announced tonight.

The former Grace liner Santa Clara, renamed the transport Susan B. Anthony, also was lost by American Naval forces along destroyer escort Rich and the with the minesweeper Tide, the fleet tug Partridge.

The American destroyers were the Corry and Glennon, built in the 1940-41 program, and the Meredith. President Roosevelt announced soon after the landings that two destroyers had been lost. He did not name them.

Three British destroyers announced lost by the admiralty were the Boadicea, Swift and Svenner. The British also announced the loss of the frigates Mounie, Blackwood and Lawford, the trawler Lord Austin and the Auxiliary Minster.

Total Losses 15 Vessels

Total naval losses announced were 15 vessels, seven American and eight British. Several thousand ships were involved in the landings.

The Susan B. Anthony (Santa Clara) was a $4,187,500 liner of 8,183 gross tons, built in 1930. She was 483 feet long.

The Susan B. Anthony banked in the channel while carrying troops to France without the loss of a soldier. Some 50 or more of the 400 naval personnel aboard still are unreported, but most are believed safe.

Survivors said few of the soldiers even got their feet wet and they were saved with their field packs and small arms by rescue ships which swarmed to the scene.

Lt. W. H. Hutchison, 7832 22nd street, Flushing, N. Y., a navigator, said the rescue job "certainly rates with that of the President Coolidge in the South Pacific."

Big Increase in Bank Deposits

According to the Monthly Review of the Federal Reserve Bank, of St. Louis, during May 1944, deposits to individual accounts at banks in Sedalia aggregated $6,160,000, which represented an increase of 16 per cent over that of last year.

This debit figure represents for the most part checks against depositors' accounts in payment of goods, services, and debts, and is considered a good indicator of general business activity. It has been pointed out that Sedalia's record is most outstanding in comparison with other cities of similar size.

Hannibal, with a population about equal to Sedalia's had an aggregate of $4,535 during May, considerably lower than the figure for this city. Cape Girardeau's figure in the same report was $4,746,000.

In the review it is stated that loan volume in this bank had held fairly stable. Investments were also holding steady. Private demand deposits began to decline about mid-June reflecting withdrawals for security purchases in the Fifth War Loan Drive.

God's Front Porch

A Novel By KETTI FRINGS

To Those Who Came In Late: This is the story of what happened to Pinky Harrison after he was killed in a foxhole. The scene is Heavenly Bend Junction, half-way point between the Earth and Big Valley. Travelers stay here until they stop looking back to Earth.

SAMMY stood watching them with his hands on his hips. "All right, he's going to be okay now. Can we go on now?" "No, you can't go on," God told him firmly.

"There, you see! You don't want to listen!" Exasperated, Sammy turned to the others. "Sure, the old guy got scared. I was just coming home, and I saw him from the porch. Starting out for the Big Valley and stopping to sit there on the bench for a while, and what happens? You all heard what happened. Only he gets caught out in it! Well, it can happen to you sometime, too. How long are we going to let this go on, huh? You listen to Sammy, and I'm telling you, you'll know what to do!" He began to move back to his soap box, as he talked. "What I say is to hell with earth! . . . let's wash our hands of the whole damn thing! They're getting their wars closer to us all the time, so let's move out . . . that's what Sammy says!"

A few, puzzled and interested, began to talk up to him. "How do you mean? Leave here?"

"Sure—build ourselves another place, further up. Get really high this time, and I mean high. And cut 'em off . . . to hell with them."

Merry-Go-Round

For the first time since Pearl Harbor, Secretary Hull has agreed to permit foreign newsmen to ask questions at state department press conferences. This decision followed protests from British, Chinese and Soviet correspondents who have repeatedly pointed out to Hull that American correspondents are free to ask all the questions they want in London, Moscow and Chungking, while Allied correspondents at the state department have been forced to listen in silence. . . . Two unique, active backstage allies against Henry Wallace for vice president have been Tommy "The Cork" Corcoran and ex-Ambassador Joe Kennedy, both maintaining that Wallace was not acceptable to the Catholics. They are rooting for their old SEC friend, Justice Bill Douglas. . . . On the other hand, staunch Catholic Justice Frank Murphy, who never forgets a friend, stood by Wallace. . . . Tom Dewey has been getting a lot of barbs on his refusal to approve the federal soldiers' ballot, whereas the Republican governors in Connecticut, New Jersey and Pennsylvania all went along on the federal ballot. GOP leaders admit privately that the non-federal ballot will keep a lot of soldiers from voting next November, perhaps as many as 600,000. The soldiers' vote is rated 7 to 5 for FDR.

So the two men sat, puffed on their cigars, said absolutely nothing until their interpreters rescued them. Conversationally, they were on dead center.

De Gaulle had toasted the United States, then had made a brief speech in French. Immediately, French aides — Gaston Palewski, chief of the civil cabinet, General Emile Bethouart, chief of staff and Andre Laguerre, chief of the French information service — huddled to translate the speech.

Meanwhile, Hull and de Gaulle retired to a cool corner of the room to chat, but their interpreters were busy translating de Gaulle's French for the newsmen.

In the interim, Hull tried his Tennessee French on de Gaulle, but de Gaulle could not understand. So de Gaulle tried out his English. Mr. Hull, however, couldn't get the drift of that. So the two men sat, puffed on their cigars, said absolutely nothing until their interpreters rescued them. Conversationally, they were on dead center.

Cut the train service. Evacuate this place. Leave 'em to stew in their own juice. To hell with them!"

Emily, as she listened, shook her head. It reminded her, in a way, of speeches she had commented on back in 1937, 1938, 1939 . . . isolationists shooting off their mouths. "You can't do that, Sammy! The world's trouble is our trouble! Isn't that right, Father?"

She turned toward the bench, and stared. Only Timothy was there.

Nearby, the baby carriage was empty, too.

They all saw it now, and were puzzled. Only Pinky knew what it meant. He turned to Sammy, and said quietly: "You've got to wait. . . . You've got to give him another chance!"

THE fragrance of the wisteria was sweet that night, but nobody noticed.

They waited on the porch: tense, craning forward, listening for every footstep along the quiet street.

Little Phillip Allerton was swinging on the gate, and the gate creaked as usual.

After a while, Betty Allerton couldn't stand it any longer. "Phillip, I wish you wouldn't do that."

"I got to keep looking for him, don't I? There's somebody now!" But it was only Matt shuffling toward them.

"Did you get Timothy back to the Big Valley?" Julie called down to him.

Matt nodded. "He's going to be all right. Haven't see any signs of the old man?"

"That's just what we were going to ask you."

Matt shook his head. "I went out to Lookout Point twice, but it's windy waiting out there."

Julie sighed. "Well, come up here with the rest of us." "Why doesn't somebody look through the telescope?" Matt suggested.

"We looked," Pinky told him, "but the smoke's so bad you can't see anything."

"Couldn't see him anyway," Mrs. Johnson reminded them. "Nobody can see him when he goes to earth."

"We could have told about the baby, whether he got her back or not," Ada pointed out.

"Yes, I suppose." "Well, I don't know." It was Julie's turn now to shake her head. "I got the funniest feeling in my bones."

Emily shuddered. "Julie, don't say that." "It's true." Then Julie rose quickly, peered down the street. "Who's that?"

"Hello, Uncle Lawd," little Phillip called eagerly, recognizing him at once. He could always tell by the way his coat-tails swung.

De Lawd loomed into close view. "Hello, sonny." Then, embarrassedly, he glanced up toward the others. "I'm sorry, everyone. I don't mean to be coming by here like this all the time, but it's kind of important to all of us, you know."

"Course it is," Julie assured him warmly. "We'll let you know the first thing. Oh, and look . . ." she picked up the napkin-covered plate that was beside her, took it down to the gate to him. "Want to take this to Rose? Nobody ate very much here tonight. Shame to let it go to waste. Got whipped cream on it."

De Lawd smiled gratefully. "She'll appreciate that. Well, we'll all keep hoping. Let me know." And off he went.

Half-way down the black, he met Jehovah and Mr. Caterwall, walking arm in arm, in the friendliest of fashion. "No word yet, Cousin Jehovah," De Lawd told him, and went on toward his house.

Nevertheless, Jehovah and Caterwall continued on down the black to God's house, waited there with the others, sitting on the steps.

Violin Concerto

Mendelssohn's popular violin concerto will be presented by Pfc. Abraham Haiduck, violinist, a member of the Band. Pfc. Haiduck was a pupil of the distinguished violinist and teacher, Philip Mittell, in New York City, and is a graduate of New York University. Haiduck was a member of the National Symphony Orchestra Association under the well-known American conductor, Leon Barzin. Some time later he left the field of music to enter the real estate business.

Pfc. Haiduck entered the service at Camp Pickett, Virginia, where he worked in special services and assisted in the soldier production, "Johnny Get Your Gun." Following this work he was sent to Camp McCain, Miss., from which camp he transferred to the Army Air Forces Band at Grenada Army Air Field. Because of his versatility, playing both tenor saxophone and violin, he was sent to the SAAF, where his unusual talents are fully enjoyed by all of us.

Another highlight on the one-hour program will be the World Premier performance of "Fantasie Symphonique", composition by a young American composer, Mr. Gene Crause, of South Bend, Indiana. Mr. Crause wrote the Fantasie during the latter part of 1937 and has this to say about listening to it. "In much modern music the public seems to demand, an elaborate story or vision of the composer's inspiration. There is no such story about this composition. "Fantasie Symphonique" is, in itself, a vague title that leaves the listener free to imagine anything desired."

This composition has never been performed in its entirety, owing probably to the extremely difficult playing it requires. W. O. Wilson was a member of the orchestra which first read it under the composer's direction, but only the slow movement was programmed. It is a tribute to our orchestra members that they have worked assiduously in studying their parts, thus making the performance possible.

Thursday's program will also include "Mock Morris" by Percy Grainger and Wagner's "Pilgrims' Chorus."

The program will be dedicated to America's No. 1 soldier, General George C. Marshall, Chief of Staff of the United States Army.

and Mrs. Ross Kanenbley and son, Clyde (of Florence); Mr. and Mrs. Lemon Stevens, Wichita, Kas.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burke and family, Jean, Joan, and Billy, Haven, Kas.; First Sgt. and Mrs. Wilford Swope of Ft. Leonard Wood and E. L. Spurgeon, Sweet Springs.

S 2/c Wayne Gardner, who is over seas could not be present. The afternoon of the dinner, Mr. Conrad Michaelis flew his plane very low over the crowd in salute to his friend, Mr. Gardner.

INVASION INCREASES NEED FOR USED FATS

Industrial fats and greases and the many things made from them, including medical supplies, explosives, compass floats, and artillery recoil mechanisms, will be needed in growing volume as the heavy fighting on both fronts continues, say officials of Standard Rendering Company, Kansas City, collectors in this area. The armed forces must have these things made from waste fats, they say, not only for purposes of enemy destruction, but also to save lives of our own men. The housewife has the wartime job of saving these fats; the meat dealer and other retailers that of collecting them. Housewives should save every ounce of waste fat possible and turn it in to meat dealers regularly. Standard Rendering Company will accept direct shipments from dealers, express collect, or will provide direct truck pick up service. Address them at 635 Adams, Kansas City, Kansas, or phone Harrison 1645, Kansas City.—Adv.

Two cups enriched all-purpose flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons fortified margarine, 1/4 cup milk, 3 cups sweetened berries, 7-minute frosting, or white cream cheese, or whipped light cream.
Sift, measure flour and resift with baking powder and salt. Cut in fortified margarine until coarse crumbs are formed. Add milk and stir lightly with fork. Turn out onto floured cloth. Knead gently until smooth on one side. Roll to 1/4 inch thick. Cut 6 circles 4-5 inches in diameter. Brush with melted margarine. Roll trimmings and cut 6 small circles. Pinch or cut edges into points. Bake both cups and caps in very hot oven (450 degrees F.) 15 minutes. Remove from pans at once and fill with sweetened berries or fresh fruit. Top with cap and garnish as desired. Those strawberry cups would be appropriate for a June wedding.

Second Half Major League Schedule

Starts Today With 14 Clubs Getting Their Second Wind

By the Associated Press

With the three-day vacation over, the major leagues swing back into the second half of the season today as the 14 clubs are summoned to their second wind in determined efforts to overhaul the high flying Cardinals and Browns of St. Louis.

However, the All-Star game last Tuesday night and the interesting highlights emanating from it are still the main topic of discussion among the baseball folk.

Nat Leaguers Look Ahead

Naturally, the National leaguers are happy over their fourth victory in 12 games, but they are looking ahead to the fall with some misgivings, for after two of the other three victories, the older circuit lost the World's Series. The New York Yankees defeated their inter-borough rivals, the Giants, in 1936; duplicated over the Chicago Cubs in '38. The Cincinnati Reds broke through with a victory over the Tigers in '40.

All four National league victories have come with the Frickmen serving as hosts to the American leaguers. It also marked the first time the American league was the first to score, yet lose the game.

The 7-1 score represented the widest margin between the two teams since the game's inaugural in '33. The previous most lopsided score was the 8-2 American league victory in '37. The four runs scored by the N'ers was the most in any single inning in the 12 games.

Walters in on Two Wins

Bucky Walters of the Reds, who pitched the first three innings for the winners, also hurled in one of the other National league victories, the only National leaguer thus honored. The record, though, is held by Vernon Gomez of the Yankees, who took part in four American league triumphs. At that, Walters, the biggest winner in the majors this year, was hit hardest of the four National league chucks. Tex Hughson and Hal Newhouser, the only 13-game winners in the junior circuit, were the least effective for the losers.

In using five hurlers, the American league set a new high. The previous top figure was four hurlers in '41. It was also the first time the American league required the use of more pitchers in a game than the National.

The National league gained the edge in batting for the first time with an average of .252 to .251 for the American league. The senior circuit also leads in hits, 102 to 99.

No Home Runs Hit
For the first time since 1938 and for the second time since the classic started, not a single home run was hit. It was also the first time the American league entry failed to hit at least once for extra bases, all six hits being singles.

Phil Cavarretta became the first player to enjoy a perfect day at the plate, while playing a full game. The Cub first baseman hit a triple, single and drew three passes, another first.

Joe Cronin, manager of the Boston Red Sox, serving as a coach, and Rick Ferrell of the Washington Senators, also non-active, were the only ones who played in the first All-Star game. Mel Ott, of the Giants, appeared in his 11th game, a record, when he pinch hit in the third inning. Ott and his teammate, Joe Medwick, were the only performers who played in the 1934 game.

World Series At Night Given Consideration

"Owl Ball" Classic Unlikely For This October, However

By JACK HAND

PITTSBURGH, July 13.—(P)—Night world series games may be just around the corner but baseball men streaming out of town today agreed 1944 definitely was not the time.

Although the major leagues agreed to unlimited after dark play every day except Sunday at their joint conclave before last night's National league 7-1 all-star triumph, none of the clubs are considering an "owl ball" classic in October.

The St. Louis Cards and Browns who pace the majors but suffer at the box office will turn on the lights for the rest of the season but will play in the sunshine if an all-sportsman's park series should result.

"Why think about night world series games if you can pack the park in the daytime?" queried Sam Breadon of the Cards.

Jimmy Conzelman, who came over from professional football to become assistant to President Don Barnes of the Browns, sounded the same note, predicting success at the gate if Luke Sewell's men can hold any part of their 2 1/2-game lead to the end.

"Too Chilly After Dark"

"Anyhow, it's too chilly in October to play after dark in St. Louis," was Conzelman's clincher.

Brownie officials were more concerned with the possibility of breaking their record of never winning a pennant.

"I think we have a good chance to do it," Conzelman commented. "Our real strong point is defense with George McQuinn, Mark Christman and Vern Stephens playing great ball and Don Gutierrez ready to hit his real stride soon."

"We've had our spotty streaks and there had to be some good breaks connected with our early season win streak but every other club in the league blows hot then cold. Don't forget we're home the last 15 days of the season, from Sept. 15 on, with the eastern teams winding up in the west."

Cards Rated 'Shoo-In'

Despite the loss of George Munger who entered the service yesterday and Max Lanier's arm trouble, the Cards were rated a "shoo-in" by all hands. Even Breadon admitted it was nice to be able to give Lanier a rest without worrying too much.

When the mayor of Pittsburgh invited the all-star crowd back for the world series in the fall, Pirate fans chuckled underneath a roar of approval. It has been done but a 10 1/2 game deficit offered little hope.

Smithton Girls Defeat USO

Wednesday evening in a five inning game the Smithton girls softball team defeated the local team sponsored by the USO by a score of 11 to 8. They deserved to win, playing a "heads up" ball game behind the good pitching of Miss Young. Miss Curtis was the heavy hitter for the winners, getting three hits out of four times at bat, while Miss Bette played a good game at first base and Miss Homan behind the plate.

Hitting of the Sedalia team was weakened by the absence of four of the regular players. Miss Merrill and Mrs. Buecke counted for three hits each. Although the losers got fourteen hits to eleven for the winners, the hits were too scattered to be effective. Mrs. Earlene Paul hit a clean "homer" in the first inning with one on to tie the score at two all in the opening inning. At the end of the third inning the score was again tied after the Sedalia girls took the lead in the second inning, but during the fourth inning there were several errors, three batters walked and a couple of good clean hits to score six runs for the visitors and give them a good lead, which they held to the end of the game.

This was the second game between these two teams this season, each winning a game on their opponent's field. Friday evening the Sedalia girls will travel to Smithton to play off the tie with another five inning game scheduled for seven o'clock. Girls planning to make the trip from Sedalia are asked to be at the USO club Friday at 6:30 p. m., or make arrangements to be picked up on the way out. The USO girls will play the WAC's Monday evening here on the high school diamond.

Back to the Pacific
From T-Sgt Billy Goodrick, ex-Brooklyn Eagle sports writer: "I've discovered that once the boys can get a big enough field to play, they will drop softball and go back to the national pastime. The men like that hard ball stuff. The lads sure went for the 'Iron Major' and the more good football pictures 'th better.'"

From Capt. Steve Stavers, former Columbia swimmer: "The water here is a transparent blue that is really beautiful. But it has sharks, barracudas, crocodiles and poisonous coral. So our swimming is limited. I went in for a little workout the other day—before I learned the nature of my submarine companions."

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
NEW YORK, July 13.—(P)—Overseas sports roundup:

Touchdown at Saipan

Marine Lieut. Joe Sabasteanski, who played center for Fordham in the 1942 Sugar Bowl game, got his first combat experience at Saipan when he was called upon to help stem a threatened Japanese counter-attack after a week on the beach, supervising the unloading of supplies. "I'd rather play six 60-minute football games on one day than go through another session of shellink like the one we had," he commented. "In the same vicinity were Corp. Calvin (Preacher) Dorsett, ex-Cleveland Indian pitcher, and Pfc. Jim Bivin, who used to hurl for the Pirates and Phillies. Before the landing, they had pitched their respective Marine teams to divisional championships. The morning after D-day at Saipan, they went to work hauling supplies from the beaches to the front lines. "I've got a fox hole you can land a plane in," Bivin told Combat Correspondent Hy Hurwitz, former Boston Globe baseball writer. "It's 25 feet deep and, brother, I've needed it where I've been." That didn't refer to his experiences with the Phillies.

Indolent India

Note from Sgt. John Derr, former Greensboro, N. C., sports editor now India: "Guess I'm having the most fun ever out here, although this hot weather has put a damper on my golf and tennis. We play after 6 p. m., usually about 14 holes. Last week I turned in my best card, an 80 on the par 74 course. And to think that back in Greensboro I never was able to break 90 and cursed many a time about shooting 100. I've been getting a few rebuilt balls from the states and also some rationed ones out here. They've put control prices on new balls now, cutting the tariff from about $6 to a little more than a buck. The course is as baked as a concrete road now, and if I can manage to keep the ball straight and low it'll run a mile.

Another Climate

From Lieut. Dave Zinkoff (on stationery of the Ale and Quail Officers' club — Iceland): "Ens. Larry Howell, 440 flash from Ohio State, was upped to Lt. (jg) here recently and is now back in the states. Red Cross opened two bowling alleys, built by the engineers. Major Gen. Williams, S. Key rolled in alley 1 after dedicating the alleys. Ko'd seven pins with his first roll then watched Brig. Gen. Early Duncan toss one, good for one pin, and another for two more. So Key refused to roll his second ball."

Back to the Pacific

From T-Sgt Billy Goodrick, ex-Brooklyn Eagle sports writer: "I've discovered that once the boys can get a big enough field to play, they will drop softball and go back to the national pastime. The men like that hard ball stuff. The lads sure went for the 'Iron Major' and the more good football pictures 'th better.'"

From Capt. Steve Stavers, former Columbia swimmer: "The water here is a transparent blue that is really beautiful. But it has sharks, barracudas, crocodiles and poisonous coral. Missouri's RIVERS

The nation's two greatest rivers meet in Missouri and scores of other streams have had their part in the State's settlement. The Mississippi and Missouri early became highways of America's forward progress, and water-borne commerce still plays its important part. Rivers have nourished the land and made it yield plentifully, they have provided communities with water supply and sanitation, they have been recreational assets and some—notably the Osage—have helped supply Missouri's electric power. In every Missourian's childhood memory, some beloved river plays a large part—just as Missouri's rivers have their place in Missouri's greatness today.

First Nurse On Guadalcanal Now Stationed At S. A. A. F.

SEDALIA ARMY AIR FIELD, July 12.—Four flight nurses of the Army Air Forces School of Air Evacuation in Bowman Field, Ky., including Lt. Mae E. Olson, the first nurse to land on Guadalcanal, have arrived at Sedalia Army Air Field, a base of the First Troop Carrier Command, for a tour of special duty.

The other three nurses are: Lts. Matilda D. Grinevich, Ethel R. Kovac, and Beryl A. Laird. They are awaiting enrollment in the School of Air Evacuation, where they will learn about the latest developments in aviation medicine. All four nurses have served with the 13th Troop Carrier Squadron in the Southwest Pacific. Several instructors on this field, once pilots in the "Thirsty Thirteenth" Squadron, remember flying these nurses in their ships.

First To Land

Lt. Olson was the first white woman to land on Guadalcanal after its capture from the Japanese. She had had a brief course in Air Evacuation at Bowman Field in December of 1942 and January, 1943. Most of her knowledge has been acquired the hard way—through experience in the tumult of a combat zone.

She was in one of the first groups of nurses sent to the South Pacific with the 13th Troop Carrier Squadron of the 13th Air Force. These nurses became the first American women to take an active role in the actual theatre of war.

Out of a contingent of 24 nurses, Lt. Olson was chosen to make the first flight to Guadalcanal. She landed there in March, 1943, about three weeks after it had been secured from the Japs.

'A Woman Aboard'

Although (like many of the men) Lt. Olson was wearing khaki overalls and an army flight cap, one of the bearded soldiers spotted the bright-haired girl as soon as she stepped from a plane.

She got a novel welcome to the bomb-pitted island.

"Good lord!" he burst out, "there is a woman aboard!"

The news spread like wildfire, and as many of the soldiers, sailors, and marines who were able to do so swarmed down on the field to catch a glimpse of the first woman to land on the island since the fighting began there.

"They were shy," said Lt. Olson, telling the story. "They just crowded around and looked on, and hardly said anything. . . . You can imagine what it was like. . . . They hadn't seen a woman for months."

"But that changed later," she added. The soldiers gradually became accustomed to the nurses who came in with the planes that brought supplies and reinforcements. These nurses stayed overnight, and next day, with a load of wounded, flew back to New Caledonia or the New Hebrides.

To Other Islands

As the American forces advanced northward, Guadalcanal became quiet and was used as a base during three-day flights to farther outposts. In July and August, in big C-47 Troop Carrier hospital planes, Lt. Olson flew to the Russell Islands, then to Ondonga, Vella Lavella, Treasury, Bougainville, and the Green Islands.

A former stewardess with American Airlines, Lt. Olson found many of the duties the same as they were aboard the commercial flagship. "Several of the patients were sitters," she explained. "We gave them food and made them more at ease and chatted with them, just as we did in the peacetime flights. Of course, we didn't have the same comforts available for them."

Her patients were enthusiastic about the evacuation by air. "None of them were afraid," Lt. Olson commented, "and they all felt it was the quickest and best way for them to be taken from the war zone."

15 Months Overseas

After 15 months' service in the South Pacific, she returned to the United States in April, 1944. Meantime, she had won the Air Medal, presented to her by Brigadier General George McCoy in the New Hebrides last February, and the silver bar of a first lieutenant, received last January. To the Air Medal are added three Oak Leaf clusters, and she has the Asiatic Theatre ribbon with a bronze star for combat service with the 13th Troop Carrier Squadron.

She brought back another decoration from the war zone—an engagement ring given her by Lt. John Carlton Lee, USNR, in New Zealand. She met her fiancé in New Caledonia, when both were on duty there, and she just received word that he landed on the west coast recently and will come east shortly.

While she is waiting for him, she is waiting also for a new class to begin at the School of Air Evacuation at Bowman Field, Ky., and is serving temporarily with the other three nurses at Sedalia Army Air Field Base Hospital.

Wallace Reports On Condition Of B-29 Gunner

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., July 13.—(P)—Vice President Wallace made his promised phone call to Mrs. Wanda Holzaur Wednesday but perhaps even better than that, a letter from her husband, a B-29 gunner badly burned in a raid over Japan, was in her morning mail.

At 11:55 o'clock this morning, the phone rang at the home of Mrs. Holzaur in East Independence, and a voice said:

"This is Henry Wallace. I saw your husband in China and visited with him. I told him I would call you as soon as I got back."

"Hello, Mr. Wallace, I've been expecting you," replied Mrs. Holzaur. And then she began asking questions about her wounded husband, Sgt. George H. Holzaur. How bad were his burns? Would he lose his sight?

"I got a letter from my husband today telling me he would be up and out of the hospital soon. Is that right, Mr. Wallace?" Asked the anxious wife and mother of a 2-month-old son, Thomas Gregory Holzaur.

The Vice President laughed. "He would talk that way," said the Vice President. "It's like him. His morale and spirit are high."

As to the seriousness of the burns, "Wallace said Holzaur's were 'about 65 percent,' and the kind 'few recover from.' Extensive skin grafting would be necessary, he said, on the sergeant's face but his eyesight would be all right."

"I believe your husband will be home as soon as a way can be found for him to come," Wallace told Mrs. Holzaur.

Wilno Falls To Russians

Old Polish City, Gateway To Baltic, Has Been Scene Of Bloody Fighting

By RUSSELL C. LANDSTROM
LONDON, July 13.—(AP)—The old Polish city of Wilno, gateway to the Baltic, fell to the Red army today after five days of bloody street fighting. Marshal Stalin announced tonight, while new advances to the southwest placed the Russians less than 30 miles from the new borders of East Prussia.

The smoke-smothered city of 200,000 was a scene of horror and destruction as Gen. Ivan D. Cherniakhovsky's third White Russian army finally liquidated the German garrison, which had been vainly reinforced by paratroopers. The Germans were reluctant to yield the city, which is a communications center linking White Russia, Poland and the Baltic states, but from the very inception of their ferocious house-to-house resistance, they were by-passed by large Russian forces which sped past the city in a swift westward drive that gave prospects tonight of Soviet soldiers fighting on German fatherland soil by the end of the week.

State Of Agony

Meanwhile, strong forces had remained to clean out Wilno. Only Thursday morning a Red Star correspondent wrote that the remaining Germans were "in a state of agony", and described common soldiers as striving to surrender, only to be shot down by storm troopers and Gestapo men. Repeated parachute reinforcements were shot out of the sky or fell on power lines and roofs, he said.

Stalin's order did not disclose the total of Nazi casualties, but the day's accounts from Moscow indicated they were heavy, one Russian broadcast saying, "those who do not surrender meet with death in their own lairs."

The prisoners taken had orders from Hitler to fight to the death for the city, Russian accounts said.

As five Red armies hammered at the enemy from the Latvian borders to the Pripyat marshes, Berlin almost outdid Moscow in reporting Russian successes.

Advance Toward Kaunas

The German radio said Russian troops advancing from the Wilno area were only 12 miles east of Kaunas, capital of Lithuania and last bastion protecting the avenues to East Prussia in that region, and announced that Soviet tanks in strength had broken through "a thin German security line" west of Baranowicz in old Poland on the road to Brest Litovsk.

German troops are withdrawing along the border of Nazi-ruled Poland, the German announcer conceded.

Another German broadcast, seeking to brighten the prevailing Berlin gloom, said several armored divisions had been brought up from the rear and soon should be meeting the full shock of the Soviet attack. "On no account will the Germans abandon the Baltic

Big Increase in Bank Deposits

According to the Monthly Review of the Federal Reserve Bank, of St. Louis, during May 1944, deposits to individual accounts at banks in Sedalia aggregated $6,160,000, which represented an increase of 16 per cent over that of last year.

This debit figure represents for the most part checks against depositors' accounts in payment of goods, services, and debts, and is considered a good indicator of general business activity. It has been pointed out that Sedalia's record is most outstanding in comparison with other cities of similar size.

Hannibal, with a population about equal to Sedalia's had an aggregate of $4,535,000 during May, considerably lower than the figure of this city. Cape Girardeau's figure in the same report is $4,746,000.

In the review it is stated that loan volume in this bank had held fairly stable. Investments were also holding steady. Private demand deposits began to decline about mid-June reflecting withdrawals for security purchases in the Fifth War Loan Drive.

Another Prowler Reported

The police were notified Thursday night that a prowler had been seen in the 1206 block on East Fourteenth street.

Nimitz said Rear Admiral Yano was killed on the same day.

Japanese Try To Escape In New Guinea

Battle Rages Near Aitape, Seized Last April By Americans

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea Friday, July 14.—(AP)—A desperate attempt by the Japanese 18th army to shake loose the encirclement thrown about it by Allied troops in the British New Guinea coast may have developed in full force today on that by-passed front.

Preliminary outpost clashes took place as the enemy massed probably 45,000 men for what appeared to be another fanatical attempt to shatter American lines.

East Of Aitape

The battle scene was 21 miles east of Aitape, seized by Americans in their invasion of last April 22. Below the Nipponese were Australian forces, slowly closing in from the southeast.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Thursday communique reported that reconnaissance indicated the Japanese, commanded by Gen. Hatazo Adachi, were concentrating for the attack. The force was estimated at 45,000 but a headquarters spokesman said less than 25,000 may be combat troops.

Purpose of the enemy, the spokesman said, was to try to crash through westward toward the northwest coast or possibly to some point between the American bases at Aitape and Hollandia. Those two beachheads are 125 miles apart.

Sacrificed Lives

The situation was similar to that last March on the Empress Augusta bay front of Bougainville Island, in the northern Solomons. There thousands of trapped and starving Nipponese sacrificed their

Sedalians To Be At Aviation Luncheon

Major A. H. Wilks, and T. H. Yount, the latter chairman of the Airport committee of the City Council, will go today to Kansas City, where they will attend an aviation luncheon, at which Wayne Parrish, widely-known aviation analyst, writer and publisher of the American Aviation magazine, will be the principal speaker.

The meeting-luncheon is to be held at the Continental hotel, sponsored by the Aviation Department of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce. Many persons throughout the middle west interested in post-war aviation plans will be in attendance at this gathering.

The speaker will use as his subject "The March of Aviation." Mr. Parrish, who is from Washington, D. C., recently spent several weeks in England as the guest of the British government, conferring with officials about military aviation and the development of post-war civil air transportation.

Boy Scouts to Pick up Paper

Wastepaper is the number one critical war salvage material. Every resident of Sedalia is called upon to contribute newspapers, magazines, and corrugated boxes next Sunday afternoon. The Boy Scouts will pick up wastepaper from the curb in front of your home beginning at 2 o'clock. Tie the wastepaper into bundles for convenient handling before the truck comes to your block.

The annual requirements for wastepaper in the war industries is 8,000,000 tons or 667,000 tons per month. Every item of war, from blood plasma to tanks, must be packed in paper before shipping. The great demand for paper can be supplied only from the homes of America.

Merchants and business houses of Sedalia willing to volunteer their trucks for wastepaper pickup may call the Chamber of Commerce office, telephone 895. Truck drivers are also needed.

Soldier Son Of Soldier Father Dies Of Heart Attack In Normandy

By HAL DOYLE
WITH A MERICAN TROOPS IN NORMANDY, July 13.—(AP)—Brig. Gen. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., 56—the soldier son of a soldier father—who braved deaths in three invasions and many battle fields in North Africa, Sicily, Italy and France, died of a heart attack last night at 11:45 as he rested quietly in a captured German truck.

General Roosevelt had been using the truck for his office and bedroom the past few days.

Two Fires Result In $550 Loss

The fire departments were called at 5:04 p. m. Thursday to the apartment of L. R. Spay, 1002 South Ohio avenue, where a kerosene cook stove had exploded and flames had spread over the kitchen. A line of hose was laid to put out the fire. Damage was estimated at $200 to the building and $75 to the contents.

While the firemen were there another alarm, at 5:18 o'clock, from the home of Mrs. Charles E. Yeater, 624 West Seventh street, was relayed to them by the police department. A fire of undetermined origin had gained considerable headway in an outdoor storeroom.

The blaze was extinguished by use of booster tank. The estimated loss was $275.

Today Marks Close Of Red Cross Sedalia Blood Bank

Thursday night the grand total for the Red Cross Blood Bank stood at 924 pints, the total for Thursday itself reaching 224 pints. No more appointments are being made, and today's schedule is amply filled, reported Mrs. A. A. Studebaker, chairman. Today marks the close of the center.

Sixty people came to the Blood Bank from Camdentown Wednesday. A young soldier back from the front was the inspiration of many people from that community wanting to give their blood. At a previous time his mother was working to get donors from her community when she received word her son, who was with the Army Air Corps, was missing. But today the boy is back home. He went down in the jungles of Burma and it took him five days to reach a native village and twenty-eight days to contact civilization and he has stories to tell in his community of the results of the use of blood plasma.

A LaMonte boy, back from the front, also is telling a story that

Paratrooper Praises Plasma

From "a foxhole somewhere in France," Sgt. Robert Morris, a nephew of Mrs. Landon Welch, 1505 South Barrett avenue, has written his appreciation for the work of the Red Cross, with particular reference to the supply of blood plasma.

Sgt. Morris, a paratrooper whose division participated in the D-day invasion on June 6, said in a recent letter, "The Red Cross is certainly doing a good job up here with blood plasma, and they keep us supplied with cigarettes and chewing gum."

"I used to wonder back home what the Red Cross did—but now I know." The paratrooper is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Morris, Warrensburg.

Turkey Ready For Move To Allied Camp

May Announce Support Of United Nations In Few Days

By FLORA LEWIS
WASHINGTON, July 13.—(AP)—Turkey is moving rapidly towards the Allies, it was learned authoritatively today, and may take a concrete step in support of the United Nations war effort within a matter of days.

Talks have been going on for three weeks between the Turks on one side and the United States, Britain and Russia. The conversations are continuing and the outcome will determine the next move.

Ever since the conference at Cairo last year between President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Turkish President Ismet Inonu, Turkey has been inching over into the Allied camp, and within the past two months the pace has stepped up considerably.

Cut Trade With Nazis
Turkey has already cut her overall trade with Germany by 50 per cent, in addition to complete stoppage of chrome exports.

The next move may be a severance of all economic relations with Germany, with the possibility that a break in diplomatic relations and eventually war would follow.

(Meanwhile American ambassador to Turkey Lawrence Steinhardt, who is in Washington conferring with President Roosevelt, told correspondents at the White House that he was looking for "much closer cooperation" from Turkey soon.)

While there is no indication that Turkey will declare war immediately, that is the direction in which present developments seem to point. Turkey's entrance into the war would open an entire new front against Germany, and could cause complete German collapse in the Balkans. The Nazis are believed to have insufficient forces there to hold back the Turkish army.

Would Hasten Victory

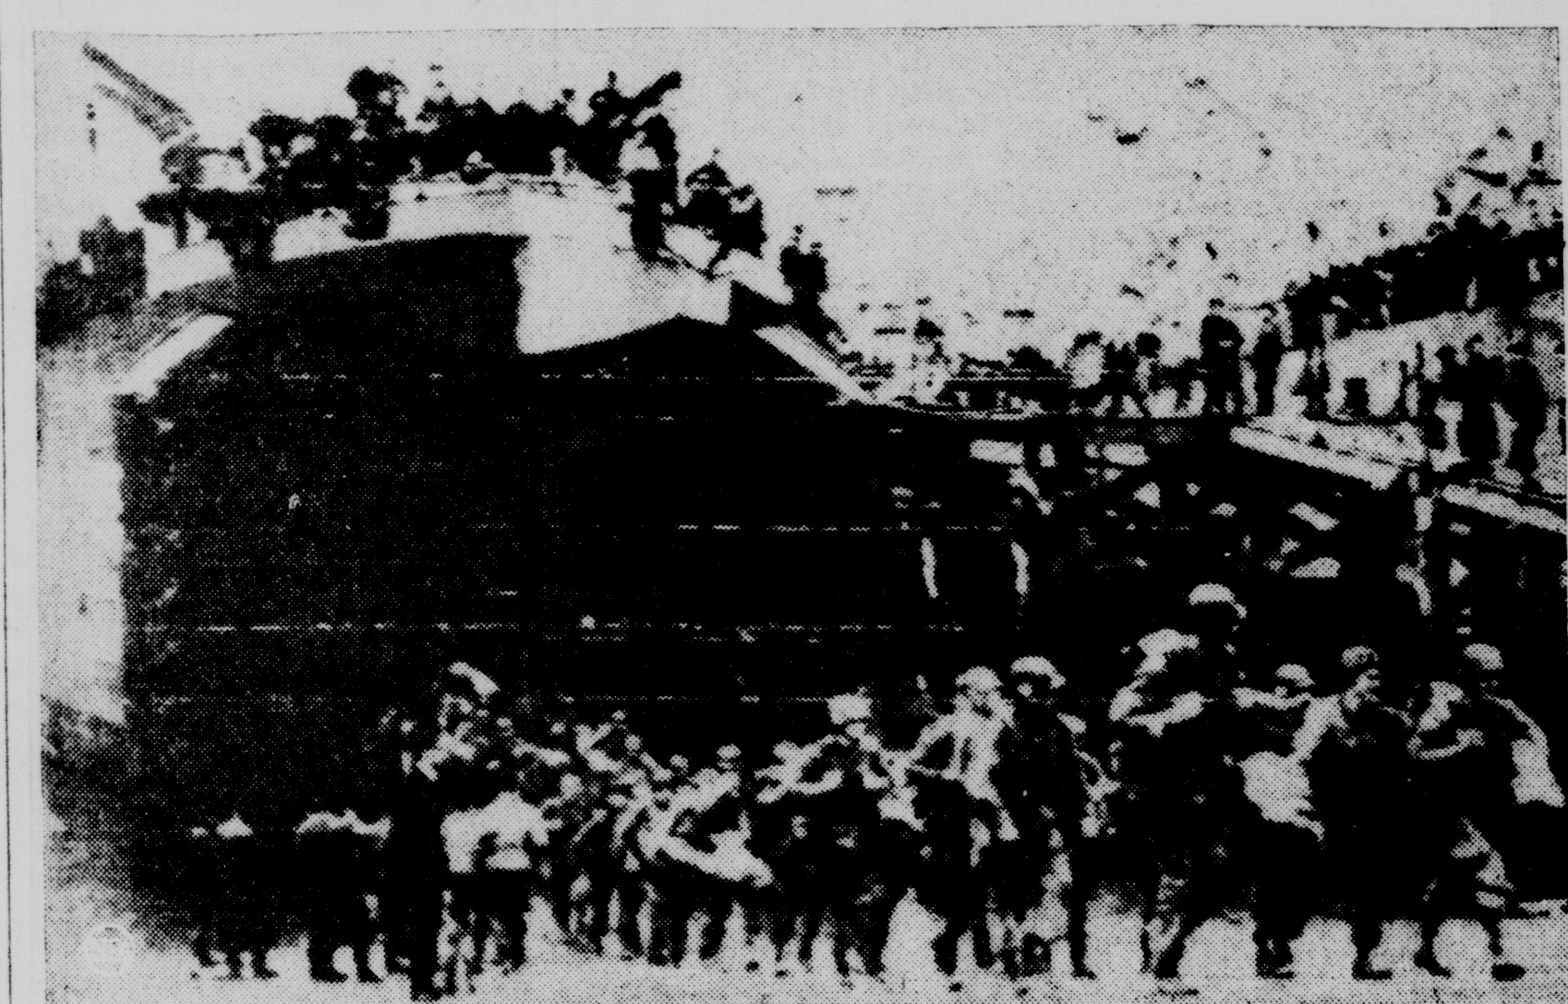

Other result of a Turkish declaration of war which could hasten Allied victory are:

1. Opening of the Dardanelles and thus a direct sea route to an all-year Russian port.
2. Obtaining nearby bases to bomb vital Balkan oil fields and industrial installations, including strategic Ploesti in Romania.
3. Opening of several good Turkish ports for Allied war use.
4. A short route for flying lend-lease planes into Russia all year round.
5. Control or capture of several thousand Nazi agents sprinkled through the Middle East who manage to use Turkey as their base of operations.

The Turkish government has been convinced for some time, an authoritative source said, that the Allies would win the war. Military successes on the Russian, French and Italian fronts have impressed them deeply.

Fighting Bitterly, Doughboys Move Slowly Down Era Valley

Munich War Targets Left Smoldering

Communications Smashed By U. S. Heavy Bombers

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
LONDON, July 13.—(AP)—Communications and other war targets concentrated around Munich lay twisted and smoking tonight, hammered into wreckage during the day by more than 1,000 American heavy bombers which smashed against this fourth largest German city for the third day in a row and finally forced the German air force to come up and fight.

The great fleet of Flying Fortresses and Liberators, completing an unprecedented 60-hour assault on installations confined to such a small area, also pounded Saarbrücken, 200 miles west of Munich.

Nazi Fighters Up

Nazi fighters made attacks on the bombers fleet adding to anti-aircraft described officially as moderate to intense. Ten American bombers and five fighters from an escort force of 500 failed to return. Eight German planes were shot out of the air, six by the bombers and two by fighters.

The daylight blow against southern Germany followed night assaults by more than 1,300 RAF bombers which blasted railroad yards at Tours and Culmnet, Chelindry, 100 miles south of Paris, flying bomb bases in France, and the Ruhr.

The Munich assault brought the total of bombs on the Munich area in three days to approximately 9,000 tons. Clouds again covered the target area almost completely and most of the bombing was by instrument, although some visual attacking was done.

6,000 Sorties In Day

Allied heavy bomber and fighter forces from both Britain and Italy have flown 6,000 sorties in the last 24 hours. Allied air forces in Britain and Normandy have flown around 10,000 sorties in the past 72 hours.

The Swiss radio said that the American bombers again flew over Switzerland and that one crashed after the crew bailed out while others were forced to land by Swiss fighters. Seventeen of the 46 bombers missing on the two previous Munich raids are known to have landed in Switzerland.

Both Vital Points

Both Munich and Saarbrücken are vital points on rail lines leading to Hitler's southern front. Unfavorable weather again held air activity over Normandy to a minimum, but American Thunderbolt fighter-bombers made their deepest penetration in France since D-day and destroyed a large German fuel dump at Sens, southeast of Paris.

Leaving the fuel dump afire, the Thunderbolts dropped the rest of their bombs on rail yards north of Sens and strafed two long freight trains in the yards. All returned.

500 Allied Mediterranean air force bombers, struck storage tanks and rail facilities in northern Italy.

Bothered By Dogs

Residents on East Sixth street, Thursday night complained to police that a number of dogs had disturbed them with their barking and howling.

By NOLAND NORGAARD

ROME, July 13.—(AP)—American troops have captured the German stronghold of Lajatico, 17 miles inland from the Italian west coast, in some of the bitterest fighting in weeks and tonight were reported battering their way slowly down the Era Valley toward the Arno river, first great obstacle in the enemy's "Gothic line" defenses.

Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's doughboys cleaned out the last German suicide squads in Lajatico yesterday, taking 150 to 200 prisoners, and pressed on northward in their drive to flank the big port of Livorno, whose strong defenses virtually have stalled an American push directly up the coast for the past week.

Meet Withering Fire

Late dispatches placed the flanking force less than a dozen miles from the point where the Era river empties into the Arno north-east of Livorno, whence the broad Arno valley stretches westward to the sea between Livorno and Pisa. There was no indication that American troops on the coast had progressed beyond their last reported position eight miles from Livorno, where they had encountered withering enemy artillery fire from the hills.

Inland from Lajatico other Allied forces prepared to assault four key road centers commanding the approaches to the "Gothic line." After beating back several savage Nazi counter-attacks, French Colonials won positions from which they could strike at Poggibonsi, which guards both the Elsa river valley approach to the Arno and the main highway north-east to Florence, 21 miles away.

Fight For Hill 218

The bitterest fighting in this sector was for hill 218, two miles southwest of Poggibonsi, which the French won two days ago. The Nazis counter-attacked recklessly yesterday in an attempt to regain the height, but the Colonials held their positions stubbornly and inflicted heavy losses on the enemy.

Arezzo, key road junction 36 miles east of Poggibonsi and the same distance southeast of Florence, was under constant probing by British Eighth army patrols and a major attack on its defenses appeared to be imminent. An Allied officer said the Germans had massed more than 70 big guns around Arezzo.

Citta Di Castello, another German-held road junction in the upper Tiber valley, was menaced by Eighth army troops who advanced to a point within four miles of its outskirts. Gubbio, an important communications hub 48 miles south of Rimini, Adriatic anchor of the "Gothic line," was under assault by Indian troops, who held high ground dominating the town.

Fighter Opposition Heavier

Maj. Gen. Nathan Twining, commander of the U. S. 15th (strategic) air force in Italy, told correspondents that German fighter opposition to heavy bomber attacks on Nazi oil facilities was "getting tougher every time we have to go back to a target."

Details Of Massacre In France Told

Press Service Says 800 Die In Nazi Atrocity Last June

LONDON, July 13.—(AP)—The French press service, giving details of the Nazi massacre of inhabitants of Oradour-Sur-Glane, central French village, last June 10, said today women and children had been locked inside of a church which then was dynamited and set afire.

Nearly 800 persons perished in the atrocity and only "seven or eight" of the entire population escaped, the French agency said.

The massacre previously had been reported by the British Broadcasting Company, which said about 1,100 of the town's 1,200 population were killed. June 10 also was the date of another massacre at the Greek town of Distomo and second anniversary of the destruction of Lidice, Czechoslovakian village.

Men Were Shot

Men of Oradour-Sur-Glane were marched to a barn near the fairgrounds in groups of about 20 and shot, the French service said, and after the church filled with women and children was dynamited, every building in the village was set afire. German soldiers stationed about the city shot and killed anyone attempting escape.

Contradictory reports circulated as to the reason for the "terrible tragedy," said the press service. "Some say an arms dump was found in the village. Others that some Germans were killed there."

This was the story of the butchery related by the service. Several truckloads of SS troops drove into town at 1:30 p. m. on June 10 and the German officer ordered the mayor to assemble the entire population on the fairgrounds.

No One Spared

No one was spared. One young mother with an 8-day-old baby was dragged out. She was taken to the church by a soldier who carried the baby in his cradle.

Children were crying and women screaming as Germans carried a large case into the church and left. An hour later the church blew up and began to burn.

Soon the entire village was a sheet of flames. The sound of houses collapsing in whirls of smoke mingled with the sound of cattle left in the stables and the terrifying cries of people as the flames reached them.

Bishop Visits Scene

The Germans remained until June 13, forbidding any one to approach. Some bodies were thrown into a ditch dug by the Nazis.

The Bishop of Limoges, Monseigneur Rastouil, visited the scene on June 13, said the French Sunday openly condemned the atrocities as the worst ever experienced by France. Three priests were among the victims.

Seven Towns Swept Up By Bradley's Doughboys In Fierce Fighting

By JAMES M. LONG
SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Friday, July 14.—(AP)—The fall of St. Lo seemed imminent today as American doughboys stormed heights a mile and a half to the east in position to fire at point-blank range on escape routes and into the heart of the fortress itself, guarding all enemy positions on the Cherbourg peninsula front.

The night communique from supreme headquarters reported further gains by the column of armor and infantry which fought to the outskirts of La Barre De Semilly, two miles east of St. Lo, and the Germans summoned Echeles from the rear in an attempt to prevent a break-through.

Seven towns were swept up by Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's doughboys, who were on the move in a slugging advance all along the 30-mile flaming battlefield that put them within three miles north of the enemy's central Periers and two miles north of the coastal stronghold of Lessay.

Warning To Fishermen

Supreme headquarters broadcast a new warning to fishermen to stay out of coastal waters from Bayonne, near the Spanish frontier, to the west Frisian Islands off the northwest coast of Germany, renewing orders expiring last night.

The Americans moved to the attack on St. Lo after an opening barrage which left Germans stunned and sickened in their foxholes.

Associated Press Correspondent Don Whitehead, picturing the blazing battle in the green countryside of hedgerows, said a staff officer declared the enemy's position in the ancient Normandy city was untenable.

Press Toward City

Americans on the ridge, which points like a dagger at St. Lo's flanks, were pressing slowly toward the city, while the enemy, waiting in tanks and behind the hedges, was putting up stiff resistance.

Sound trucks were wheeled up within a few score yards of the front lines, and broadcasts told Germans wanting to surrender to lie in the grass and wait until the infantry came up.

St. Lo itself was another battered town in the line of battle, with streets piled high with debris, its buildings wrecked by days of artillery pounding, said French civilians who slipped into the American lines.

The Americans swung around to the east in the encircling move after driving to within a mile and a half of the city on the north yesterday.

Dig Into Ruins

Threatened on the southeast, facing a frontal attack from the north, and an encircling column coming down from the northwest, the Germans were reported digging into the ruins of St. Lo for a last-ditch defense.

The artillery barrage pounding the German defenses to bits far

Two Arbuckle Brothers In War In Italy

Tell Of First View Of Rome, Hope To See Berlin

An interesting letter has been received by Mrs. Fanny Arbuckle, 1614 South Lamine avenue, sent from the division in Italy with which her two sons, Lieut. George W. Arbuckle and Lieut. Richard E. Arbuckle are serving. Both young men were carrier boys employed by the Sedalia Democrat Company, while in school here. They left Sedalia with the National Guard, in 1940, and served under Capt. H. O. Berry, of this city, until they were sent overseas. The letter follows:

"Now that information concerning our division has been given out for print, I am sure you can keep tab on me as we penetrate deeper into Nazi-held territory and on to Berlin.

"We are engaged in the Italian offensive that crumbled the Gustav and Hitler lines from the Tyrrhenian Sea, and had the pleasure of pushing on to Rome, and being the first Allied troops there. From our initial point up to Rome, one just can't describe the atrocities of war, no matter how much one reads or sees of it. The destruction of towns, villages, and cities to absolute rubble, and the stench of decaying animals and human bodies is almost more than one can bear.

"I make particular reference to the towns we occupied on our march to Rome. From Minturno we pushed northeast to Scavini, Formia, Gaeta, Itri, Fondi, Terracina, Sabaudia, through the flooded Pontine Marshes to Piverno, Cori, Velletri, Rocca Priora, and thence to Rome.

"The Eternal City has been spared the ravages of war, and its sanctity preserved. Our entrance to this beautiful city not only liberated it from the Germans, but also gave the American soldiers their first look at a beautiful European city. Smart looking shops, wines, liquors, and beautiful signorinas. The ovation accorded the victorious troops is a tale one can always tell and never forget. Thousands lined the streets to greet the Liberators, throwing flowers in their paths; women wept with joy, children clapped their hands with glee, flags of the Allies bedecked many of the buildings, civilian parades flourished here and there, and all the stores and shops closed for a real 'Roman holiday.'

"With the fall of the first European capital to the Allies, we are again on the move, and I hope that I may soon write another such epistle—this one from Berlin."

Son Visits at Waggoner Home

Herbert Waggoner, lead design man and major technician for all production illustration of one of the major sections of the B-29 bomber, at the Boeing Aircraft company plant at Seattle, Wash., is spending a ten-day vacation with his parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Ralph A. Waggoner, 1122 West Seventh street.

Serving as a cadet in the army air corps from May, 1943, through last December, Waggoner, who is 24 years old, was given a release and was recalled to aircraft production work because of his training as a designing specialist. His position has placed him in immediate connection with the production of the Super-Forces which made their initial raids on Japanese territory and installations only a few weeks ago.

The Sedalian attended Park college, Parkville, Mo., for two years and Pratt Institute in Brooklyn for three years, graduating as an industrial designer. He graduated in 1937 from Smith-Cotton high school.

This is Waggoner's first visit home in two years.

Sedalian's Son Reported Missing

William A. "Billie" Smith, son of P. A. Smith of Syracuse and Mrs. Ida Smith of Sedalia, has been reported missing in action over France since June 6, the opening day of the invasion.

Smith, born and reared near Syracuse, attended public school and high school in that community. He entered the armed forces February 15, 1942, in Rock Island, Ill., and had been overseas since December, 1943. He was a member of the army combat engineers.

In 1942 he was married to Miss Ruth Wilson of St. Louis, who, upon receiving the message, notified his father.

Auxiliary To Buy War Bond

Arrangements were made to purchase another $100 war bond by the American Legion Auxiliary to Pettis County Post No. 16 at a meeting held Monday night in Parish hall with Mrs. James Franks, auxiliary president, presiding.

A complete program has been outlined by the district officers with the assistance of local committees. Owing to the shortage of gasoline very few district meetings have been held during the last year, therefore Sedalia is honored by this choice, it was pointed out.

Delegates elected to represent the local unit were Mrs. Franks, Mrs. Alice Blackman White, Mrs. Ira Espe, Mrs. Linden Jones and Mrs. J. H. Brooks.

The regular meeting of August 7 will be the annual election of officers. The entertainment committee appointed for the meeting is composed of Mrs. White, Mrs. W. L. Monegan, Mrs. Elmer Winfrey, Mrs. L. V. Morris, Mrs. F. A. Boysen and Mrs. W. F. Hamilton.

Hostesses for last Monday evening were Mrs. Walter Pinkenak, Mrs. W. O. Purnell, Mrs. S. J. Timborous and Mrs. E. E. Hamilton.

Californian Is Missing

The Rev. and Mrs. Dillon, of Smithton, received a letter from their son, who is a corporal overseas, in which he enclosed an article from a paper published at the station hospital overseas where he is assigned. It gave an account of the treatment given some of the Italian wounded, mentioning particularly one man, who was concerned about his two children, who were buried under some debris.

Cpl. Dillon helped lift one child, still alive, from the debris and rush him to a hospital, where he was revived. Mother and father and one child were reunited, but the other child was found dead.

John Charles Gabriel of the U. S. Navy, stationed somewhere in the Southwest Pacific, has been promoted to the rank of seaman first class. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Gabriel of Nelson.

Miss Slusher First To Solo At Airport Flying School

With foreboding, to be sure, but calmly self-confident, Miss Virginia Lee Slusher, 923 South Barrett avenue, in the early morning coolness of Saturday successfully became a part of Sedalia's history—she made her first solo flight and became the first pupil of Jack Funk's flying school to solo on Sedalia's Municipal airport.

Up at 5:30, she went to the air field with her instructor who went up with her to shoot a couple of landings and then, with last-minute instructions, Mr. Funk left her in the cockpit of the blue 50 h. p. Porterfield trainer and bid her fly with her own wings.

At 7 o'clock she made the take-off, circled the field at about 600 to 700 feet and landed, remembering of course with no few misgivings the ever-present cautions impressed upon her subconscious mind by her teacher, "Watch your air speed," "Don't forget to clear your rotor," "Keep the stick back after you hit the ground," and "Be quick on the rudder!"

She taxied, off she went again, and again she landed. The third and last time she took off she circled the field twice before coming in.

Amid the congratulatory greetings of her fellow-workers she settled down to work Saturday morning, looking forward to the next soaring-session, which, by the way keeps the young woman rather busy nowadays. She flies before eight in the mornings and after five in the evenings.

When interviewed Saturday afternoon, she had little to say about herself except that she "was scared." Attractive, with brown hair and blue eyes, and five feet seven inches tall, the girl pilot insists she has done only what every industrious young woman will be doing within a few years when this becomes a truly air-minded nation.

First Time Up Two Weeks Ago

It was only two weeks ago today, June 25, that Miss Slusher, 25-year-old employee of the Department of Agriculture, 4104 South Ohio avenue, went up for the first time to start instructions under Mr. Funk—his only female student. She doesn't mind admitting that she became "pretty sick" on that first trip, but soon she had collected herself and now has to her credit 11 hours of the 50-hour requirement.

Because she has soloed does not mean that she is on her own permanently, for a good many of her flying hours in the coming weeks will be dual; that is, with her teacher at one set of controls. All her solo flying will be under Mr. Funk's supervision. Then, upon completion of the 50 hours she will be given a combination practical and written examination given by a CAA (Civil Aeronautics Authority) inspector. If she fulfills requirements of these examinations she will receive her private pilot's license.

Underwriters Meet Saturday

New officers presided at the regular Life Underwriters meeting at noon at the Hotel Bothwell Saturday.

W. L. Reed, retiring treasurer, read his annual report. It was moved that the report be accepted and that Mr. Reed be commended for his efforts in that capacity. Victor Eisenstein and President L. J. Banner, who attended the recent National Accident and Health conference in St. Louis, gave some of the highlights of the meeting.

New committee appointments, read by the secretary, F. A. Boysen, were approved. Tom Yount, chairman of the War Bond Committee, reported that the Underwriters who served in the recent "over the line" million-dollar campaign June 9, had sold in excess of $100,000.

A motion was made for the transfer of membership of E. W. Van Sant to the Kansas City Life Underwriters, the latter having been promoted by his company, National Life and Accident, to the management of the Kansas City office.

A letter was read from the president of the Missouri Life Underwriters Association appointing James T. Denny as state secretary-treasurer, with L. J. Banner continuing in the office of State Educational Committee chairman.

Nurse Home From Overseas

Lieut. Hall In Hospital In Italy When It Was Bombed

Lieutenant Bernadine Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Hall, 1911 South Quincy avenue, who has seen active service in Italy and England, has arrived home for a few weeks rest, after receiving a medical discharge from the United States Army Nurses Corps.

Lieutenant Hall arrived back in this country on Wednesday, June 28th after eight, and a half months overseas service.

Lieutenant Hall entered the service January 13, 1943 and her first station was at Camp Crowder, Mo. She was there until May of 1943 when sent to Camp Kilmer, for transport duty, being assigned to a hospital ship returning wounded back to this country. She was in transport duty for four months after which she went overseas.

In Italy she was in field hospital work and was in the 32nd Field Hospital when it was bombed and five nurses lost their lives. Lieutenant Hall told of the hospital being strafed by the Germans one day and the next the hospital was bombed.

Rushed To Fox Hole

Asked if she saw much action she told of the hospital bombing, saying "Many time I hit for a fox hole and found someone else there, but either crowded in or located another in short time."

After service in Italy she was sent to a station hospital in England where she was under assignment for several months. In her tour of duty on foreign soil she never ran into anyone from Sedalia.

Lieutenant Hall received her nurses training at Temple University, Philadelphia, Pa., and is a former nurse at the Bothwell hospital in Sedalia.

She has three brothers now in service, Sergeant Royce Hall, with a tank destroying outfit somewhere in the European theater; Private Lewis Hall, recently at Camp Hood replacement center in Maryland, and probably overseas at the present time; and Private Earl Hall, in New Caledonia.

Blood Bank Obtains 230 Pints Tuesday

More Donors Are Needed To Meet Daily Goal Here

On Tuesday the Red Cross Blood Bank, in its second day at the Elks club, Fourth street and Kentucky avenue, secured 230 pints of blood, a gain over Monday. The goal in the campaign, however, is 200 pints daily. Monday's yield of 154 pints was 46 pints short. Therefore, though Tuesday's was over the goal, the aggregate is still short by 16 pints.

Mrs. A. A. Studebaker, chairman, has reported that the center is behind on appointments for Thursday and Friday and urges donors to arrange for appointments on those days.

Today 60 persons from the Camden community and 60 or more from Benton county will come here to give blood.

The center has acquired a new hemoglobin test, which, along with other tests will better check the advisability of volunteers' giving blood.

Plasma Works Miracles

Those who have seen the miracle of blood plasma bring back the spark of life to those wounded on the battlefields do not need to be urged to give. Among the first day blood donors was Lieut. Bernadine Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Hall, 1911 South Quincy avenue. Lieut. Hall is an army nurse who has recently received her medical discharge. She has seen service in both Italy and England and she knows what it means. She knows that her pint of blood means life instead of death to someone at the front.

A young naval officer visited the Blood Center Monday in hopes that he, too, could give. He is back home in Windsor on sick leave after having malaria. The blood of those who have had malaria in the past fifteen years cannot be accepted, but he was in hopes that he could give anyway. "I know now just what it means," he said, "I have seen the need of it."

Tuesday a woman came to the center and asked if she might not give her blood then. "I have an appointment for Thursday but I am afraid I am going to have chills that day and I wanted to be sure to give my blood." This woman came from near Ionia.

Workers On Monday

Those who worked at the center on Monday were: Red Cross, Mrs. Frank Monroe, Mrs. Leo Bloess, Mrs. W. P. Hurley, Mrs. E. F. Hausan, Jean Hulse, Nancy Lee Campbell and Rose Marie Muster; Gray Ladies, Mrs. J. F. Downs, Mrs. T. J. Luckett, Mrs. Nolan Bricken, Mrs. Arthur Klange; Boy Scouts, Joe Potts, Donald Eschbacher, Ralph Fall; Canteen, Mrs. D. C. Davis, Mrs. Herman Rapp, Mrs. S. E. Bushey, Mrs. J. C. Griffin, Mrs. R. L. Hogan; Motor Corps, Mrs. E. L. Hodges, Mrs. E. L. Spangler, Mrs. Herbert Seifert, Miss Margaret Bapple and Mrs. John McLaughlin; Nurses Aides, Mrs. Mary Palmer, Mrs. Robert Reed, Miss Rowena Patterson, Mrs. Fred Lange, Mrs. Alice Bailey, Mrs. Ethel Lambirth and Mrs. E. Wittman; Canteen refreshment room, Mrs. Harvey Brimmer, Mrs. Ed Hoffman, Mrs. H. L. McFarland, Mrs. H. Kanter, Mrs. Al Fabry, Mrs. J. A. Lamy, Mrs. Abe Bertman, and Mrs. E. D. Miller.

Precaution to Avert Rabies

A state of quarantine in Pettis county will exist against dogs, effective Saturday, July 15, the Pettis County Court announced Tuesday in making an official record in their minutes. The quarantine is being placed at the request of Missouri State Veterinarians and other citizens of Pettis county it was said.

The official order made Tuesday declares, in part, "the owner or persons in charge of any dog or dogs within the limits of Pettis county to either kill or impound his dog, or dogs, or to have such dog, or dogs, immunized against rabies."

The order also instructs the county clerk, James Green, to notify all police, town marshalls, and constables to pick up, hold, or kill any dog, or dogs, found to be running loose within the limits of this county.

In recent weeks a large number of dogs, believed to have been suffering from rabies have been picked up by various officers. Several of these dogs have been killed and the heads of the animals sent to the State Board of Health at Jefferson City, with a number of reports being returned "positive," meaning the dogs had a trace of rabies.

Due to the numerous complaints, and such reports being returned to this county, the county court acting upon the suggestion of the State Veterinarian decided upon the state of quarantine.

Gliders Defeat Higginsville Second Time

Cpl. 'Pappy' Horning, Former Cub, Pitches SAAF to 11-2 Victory

SEDALIA ARMY AIR FIELD. The SAAF Gliders won their second game against the visiting Higginsville Athletics baseball team, 11-2, on Sunday, July 9 behind the six-hit pitching of Cpl. Bert "Pappy" Horning, former National League twirler for the Chicago Cubs. Horning chalked up his second victory over the A's, having pitched a 2-1 win for the Gliders in their previous game.

Junior Smith relieved Horning in the sixth inning and proceeded to handuff opposing batters by striking out five and allowing only one hit.

Victory of this, the third game between the rivals, gives the Gliders a one-game lead over the A's.

General Roosevelt Is Dead

Quentin was killed in the last war. Although stricken with a slight heart attack four days ago, Roosevelt—whose knobbed cane, wide grin and bald head were a familiar sight at many a front line artillery observation post—insisted on continuing his strenuous daily tours to encourage and guide his troops. Like his father before him, Roosevelt believed in leading "the strenuous life" and his compact physique and battered nose—he looked a little like the late Knute Rockne of Notre Dame—showed he lived up to it.

He looked fit and trim. Felt "Pretty Warm"

Returning yesterday, however, he felt tired and admitted to his son, who was severely wounded in the Tunisian campaign, that "the old machine is pretty well worn." The general, despite his 56 years, led a battle life that would have taxed a boy of 20.

He fought in France in the first World War with the first infantry division which always was closest to his heart. He made the amphibious assault landings with it in Algeria and Sicily.

Then he served as African headquarters liaison officer with the French in the Mediterranean before taking over his present post with the fourth division. He received the purple heart award in the last war and added two clusters to it during the campaigns in the Mediterranean where he often worried the doughboys by his daring and disregard of personal safety. They loved him for his informal ways and the cheery word he had when the going was tough.

A "Battle Casualty"

"General Roosevelt really was a battle casualty," said Maj. Gen. R. O. Barton, division commander. "All day long he rode the lines. He spared himself nothing. In fact, he had been out at command posts cheering the men, helping commanders and helping me. He was the most gallant soldier, officer and gentleman I have ever known without exception."

"There is not a GI soldier in the fourth division but will feel his loss severely and that goes for the officers and commanders too."

Before his death Roosevelt had made plans to return to the battle front today.

"He told me we would get an early start this morning as he expected a big day," said his aide, Lt. Marcus O. Stevenson, Antonio, Tex., who had been with him ever since Roosevelt received his star in December, 1942.

Happy With Truck

Lt. Stevenson said Roosevelt had been particularly happy because the ordnance boys had fixed up the captured German truck with lights, a bed and a reading light by which he could scan works of Shakespeare whom he loved to quote by heart to his fellow soldiers.

"He often recited aloud passages from Shakespeare—he seemed to know every passage—as we rode along in a jeep," said "Stevie," as the general called him.

Roosevelt stormed ashore at Oran and Gela with the first division infantry but General Barton said he felt that "while he still loved the first division I feel that he went out as a fourth division man. Certainly we claim him as such—our very own. I feel that my greatest tribute to him can only be to carry on the work at hand, inspired by his gallantry and soul."

With First Wave

"There is one unit which feels that General Roosevelt is their own. Refusing the normal role of his position to come in with later supporting waves, General Roosevelt hit the beach with this company at H-hour in the first assault boats and helped them fight their way inland."

The general suffered a heart attack at 11:15 last night and called to Stevenson before he became unconscious. The aide summoned Maj. Kenneth M. McPherson, Beckley, W. Va., headquarters physician, but Roosevelt was beyond medical aid.

This was followed, however, by a broadcast to the German forces stating:

"All is now at stake. The fight for life or death is on. The Russian flood is surging against our eastern frontier and threatening to spill over our holy German soil."

Petitions For Divorce

A petition for divorce was filed with Bryan Howe, Pettis county circuit clerk, Thursday afternoon by W. W. Blain, attorney for the plaintiff, Sarah Ethel Horn, who alleges general indignities in her complaint against her husband LeRoy Horn, to whom she was married at Wyandotte, Kas., on July 12, 1943.

The couple was separated July 12, 1944. Mrs. Horn asks separate maintenance.

Six Destroyers Are Lost at Landing Coast

Losses Total 15 Vessels of British And of U. S.

LONDON, July 13.—(P)—Six American and British destroyers were lost in landing operations in France, the U. S. Navy department and the British admiralty announced tonight.

The former Grace liner Santa Clara, renamed the transport Susan B. Anthony, also was lost by American Naval forces along with the minesweeper Tide, the destroyer escort Rich and the fleet tug Partridge.

The American destroyers were the Corry and Glennon, built in the 1940-41 program, and the Meredith. President Roosevelt announced soon after the landings that two destroyers had been lost. He did not name them.

Three British destroyers announced lost by the admiralty were the Boadicea, Swift and Svenner. The British also announced the loss of the frigates Mounre, Blackwood and Lawford, the trawler Lord Austin and the Auxiliary Minster.

Total Losses 15 Vessels

Total naval losses announced were 15 vessels, seven American and eight British. Several thousand ships were involved in the landings.

The Susan B. Anthony (Santa Clara) was a $4,187,500 liner of 8,183 gross tons, built in 1930. She was 483 feet long.

The Susan B. Anthony banked in the channel while carrying troops to France without the loss of a soldier. Some 50 or more of the 400 naval personnel aboard still are unreported, but most are believed safe.

Survivors said few of the soldiers even got their feet wet and they were saved with their field packs and small arms by rescue ships which swarmed to the scene.

Lt. W. H. Hutchison, 7832 222nd street, Flushing, N. Y., a navigator, said the rescue job "certainly rates with that of the President Coolidge in the South Pacific."

Japanese Try To Escape In New Guinea

lives in fanatical but futile attempts to penetrate the American lines.

Far to the north of New Guinea, American ground forces were prying out the last elements of a once powerful force of 20,000 Nipponese who had tried to break from encirclement on strategic Saipan Island of the Marianas group.

Nipponese prisoners of Saipan were mounting steadily beyond the 10,000 mark. Of these, at least 9,000 were civilians.

Americans Pour-Point-Blank Fire On Nazi Escape Routes From St. Lo

overshadowed the robot bombs, which are being lobbed into American positions in Normandy, censorship disclosed. The robot bombs' inaccuracy and the lack of massed targets made this potluck counter barrage seem insignificant.

To get to the dominant ridges east of St. Lo, the doughboys overran La Boulaye, 2 1/2 miles east, and pressed on to the outskirts of La Barre De Semilly, two miles east and slightly south of St. Lo on the road to Caumont.

At one point the Americans were within 2,500 yards of the city, advised from the front said. Tightening the arc of assault from the northwest, the doughboys pushed a mile forward to Le Mislé Durand, three miles northwest of St. Lo.

Monty's Forces Turn

On the east end of the front, Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery was turning his forces southward preparatory to cleaning out the bloody triangle formed by the Orne and Odon rivers with Caen at the apex. Maltot was recaptured, but east of the Orne above Caen the Germans recaptured Colombelles.

Between St. Lo and Periers, Gen. Bradley's troops reoccupied Le Desert, which was evacuated after a German counterattack the day before, completed the mop-up of St. Andre De Bohon, took Gornay and pushed on through part of Bois Du Hommet, a thick wood which the enemy has been using for a supply dump.

One of the biggest gains was a north of Periers, where the Americans seized St. Germain, three miles northeast, and Gorges, 4 1/2 miles north, cleaned up four square miles of ground, and considerably shortened their lines.

Sixteen Teams In Semi-Pro Tourney

KANSAS CITY, July 13.—(P)—Sixteen teams will vie for the Missouri 1944 semi pro baseball championship in the state tourney which begins Friday night.

Rupert Die Casters of Kansas City will be defending their 1943 title.

The Sedalia Merchants have entered the tournament. They placed in money position in the 1943 gathering at Kansas City.

Damage To Cars In Collision

In a collision at the intersection of Broadway and Massachusetts avenue early Thursday evening, considerable damage resulted to the car of George Thomas Curtis, 920 Marshall avenue, driving west on Broadway, and to the truck of F. M. Thomas, 640 East Eighteenth street, who was making a left hand turn east onto Broadway, from Massachusetts avenue.

Curtis was in a 1936 Pontiac sedan, on which the left fender and headlight and the front bumper were bent and broken. On Thomas's 1925 Dodge pickup truck the left rear tire was deflated and the left fender and running board were damaged.

Both drivers were taken to police headquarters by an investigating officer and each posted $10 cash bond on charge of careless driving for appearance in police court this morning.

Smithton Girls Defeat USO

Wednesday evening in a five inning game the Smithton girls softball team defeated the local team sponsored by the USO by a score of 11 to 8. They deserved to win, playing a "heads up" ball game behind the good pitching of Miss Young, Miss Curtis was the heavy hitter for the winners, getting three hits out of four times at bat, while Miss Bolte played a good game at first base and Miss Homan behind the plate.

Hitting of the Sedalia team was weakened by the absence of four of the regular players. Miss Merrill and Mrs. Buecke counted for three hits each. Although the losers got fourteen hits to eleven for the winners, the hits were too scattered to be effective. Mrs. Earlene Paul hit a clean "home" in the first inning with one on to tie the score at two in the opening inning. At the end of the third inning the score was again tied after the Sedalia girls took the lead in the second inning, but during the fourth inning there were several errors, three batters walked and a couple of good clean hits to score six runs for the visitors and give them a good lead, which they held to the end of the game.

This was the second game between these two teams this season, each winning a game on their opponent's field. Friday evening the Sedalia girls will travel to Smithton to play off the tie with another five inning game scheduled for seven o'clock. Girls planning to make the trip from Sedalia are asked to be at the USO club Friday at 6:30 p. m., or make arrangements to be picked up on the way out. The USO girls will play the WAC's Monday evening here on the high school diamond.

Winners In Talent Tourney

In the Fox Theater's three-day Talent Tournament which closed Thursday night, the first prize of a $50 diamond ring went to Dickie Phillips. In second place and winner of a $25 war bond was L. A. Boggins. Annette Moser won third prize, receiving a five-dollar cash prize.

The three winners were from a group of seven finalists, the other four being Patsy and Allen Dillon, LeRoy McKeehan and Albert Marshall. The judging was by audience applause. Aaron Gardner, manager of the theater, announced the winners.

The tournament was re-instigated this year because of its popularity in 1943. "It is quite likely that after this it will be an annual affair," Gardner reported Thursday.

Horace Mann Loses To M-T

Horace Mann suffered its first defeat in the Community "Fun" Softball league play on the Smith-Cotton diamonds Thursday evening when it bowed to Mark Twain in a one-sided game, with the final score of 16-9. This loss tied the team with Washington for first place honors, in the four-week-old league.

On the north diamond Washington beat Whittier, 9-3.

The standings:

Team	Won	Lost
Horace Mann	3	1
Washington	3	1
Mark Twain	2	2
Whittier	0	4

Next week's schedule will find Mark Twain vs. Washington and Whittier vs. Horace Mann.

SAAF Seventh Concert Given

Featured Thursday Evening At The Base Theatre

The Sedalia Army Air Field Symphony Orchestra sounded the opening chords of Mozart's famous "Magic Flute" overture on Thursday evening, July 13, at 8:00 p. m. at the Base Theatre, this beginning the seventh in their series of concerts.

The Orchestra, conducted by Warrant Officer Thomas E. Wilson, is composed of musicians of the 757th Army Air Forces Band, musicians stationed on the Base in various other capacities, faculty members and students of the Central Missouri State Teachers college, and members of the Sedalia Symphony Orchestra. T. Sgt. John C. Baker is the Concertmaster.

Mendelssohn's popular violin concerto was presented by Pfc. Abraham Haiduck, violinist, a member of the Band. Pfc. Haiduck was a pupil of the distinguished violinist and teacher, Philip Mittell, in New York City, and is a graduate of New York University. Haiduck was a member of the National Symphony Orchestra Association under the well-known American conductor, Leon Barzin. Some time later he left the field of music to enter the real estate business.

Pfc. Haiduck entered the service at Camp Pickett, Virginia, where he worked in special services and assisted in the soldier production, "Johnny Get Your Gun." Following this work he was sent to Camp McCain, Miss., from which camp he transferred to the Army Air Forces Band at Grenada Army Air Field. Because of his versatility, playing both tenor saxophone and violin, he was sent to the SAAF, where his unusual talents are fully enjoyed.

Another highlight on the one-hour program was the World Premier performance of "Fantasie Symphonique," composition by a young American composer, Mr. Gene Crause, of South Bend, Indiana. Mr. Crause wrote the Fantasie during the latter part of 1937 and has this to say about listening to it. "In much modern music the public seems to demand an elaborate story or vision of the composer's inspiration. There is no such story about this composition. It is, in itself, a vague title that leaves the listener free to imagine anything desired."

This composition has never been performed in its entirety, owing probably to the extremely difficult playing it requires. W/O Wilson was a member of the orchestra which first read it under the composer's direction, but only the slow movement was programmed. It is a tribute to his orchestra members that they have worked assiduously in studying their parts, thus making the performance possible.

Thursday's program also included "Mock Morris" by Percy Grainger and Wagner's "Pilgrims' Chorus."

The program was dedicated to America's No. 1 soldier, General George C. Marshall, Chief of Staff of the United States Army.

Seek Payment Of Licenses

In a case filed Thursday afternoon in the Pettis county circuit clerk's office, the State of Missouri, at the relation and to the use of C. P. Keck, city collector, seeks judgment against Leo Bopp, of Sedalia, for $40 on each of two citations, charging violation of city ordinance No. 3173 providing for merchant's and occupational
